Example: Anne Frank and her famous diary. Anne wanted to escape Nazi regime. We know this, all of the stories tell us this. But deep down, what drove her to write this diary? Was it a deep need to leave a lasting message- just in case? Leave her imprint in a world that was not showing her humanity?

Science: A turtle lays eggs because it is the need of their body as part of the, "circle of life." But we (the reader, the scientists) need to understand the sensitivity to the balance of the eco system should we stop protecting turtles.

Internal -vs- External. Sometimes we will show the internal in the words and actions we chose to use in our stories. Sometimes it is in the lessons we leave with the reader.
